HOME TEAM

On September 13, 1933, “Sportvereinigung Austria Salzburg” was founded in Salzburg at the “Schwarzes Rössl” hotel through the merger of the city’s two clubs, FC Hertha and FC Rapid. In 1950, the club was dissolved and reestablished that same year, retaining its purple and white colors, which had been chosen for their political neutrality amid the tense climate of the time.

It wasn’t until 1953 that Austria Salzburg reached the top Austrian division, the A-Liga, for the first time, defeating Kapfenberger SV in the playoffs. In the 1971–72 season, the club enjoyed its first major season, finishing second in the league and making its debut in the UEFA Cup; in 1974, it reached the Austrian Cup final for the first time.

In 1978, the name changed to SV Casino Salzburg, while in 1994 the club won its first historic national title—the first of three in four seasons, which also culminated in the UEFA Cup final that same year. The year 2005 marked a historic turning point: the club was acquired by Red Bull GmbH, which renamed it FC Red Bull Salzburg and changed its colors from the traditional purple and white to red and white, prompting some fans to found a new club, SV Austria Salzburg, in protest. During the Red Bull era, the club won 14 league titles in 17 seasons, including 10 consecutive titles from 2014 to 2023, and reached the semifinals of the Europa League in 2018..

CITY

In Salzburg, you'll find Hohensalzburg Fortress towering high on Festungsberg Hill, above the rooftops of the historic Baroque city. This symbol of Salzburg is the largest fully preserved fortress in Central Europe and offers a 360-degree view of the city and its surroundings.

You'll also find Mozart's birthplace among the city's streets; he was born in Salzburg in 1756, in the so-called "Hagenauer House" located at Getreidegasse 9.

For 26 years, beginning in 1747, the family lived in the apartment on the third floor of the building. Mozart spent his childhood and youth there with his parents, Leopold and Anna Maria, and his sister "Nannerl." Today, Mozart's birthplace is one of the most visited museums in all of Austria and is a must-see attraction.

Salzburg is also home to Mirabell Palace and Gardens, whose name, "Mirabell," derives from the combination of the two Italian words "mirabile" and "bella."

The Marble Hall, the former ballroom of the prince-archbishop, is considered one of the "most beautiful wedding venues in the world." Leopold Mozart and his children, Wolfgang and Nannerl, once performed there; the Mirabell Gardens were redesigned around 1690 under Archbishop Johann Ernst von Thun. Their characteristic Baroque geometric layout is still recognizable, and their orientation toward the cathedral and the fortress creates a marvelous effect, while seamlessly integrating them into the historic city center.
