Just because you have retired from work, it doesn't mean you need to retire from the TSSA.

Many retired members have decided to stay active in the union and a number of retired branches have been established in divisional councils. There is also a national Retired Members' Self Organised Group which meets regularly and campaigns on a wide range of issues including safeguarding and improving pensioners' conditions.

By staying on as a retired TSSA member, you get the following benefits:

- Reduced subscriptions (subs rates are at TSSA.org.uk/join)
- Ease of payment through direct debit
- You will be able to keep in touch with colleagues and your industry
- You will have access to legal services

You can find further information about the Retired Members' Group on the TSSA website in MYTSSA or at

<http://www.tssa.org.uk/en/Equalities/retired-members/index.cfm>

Alternatively, if you have retired from work you can also retire from the TSSA and claim your retirement benefit.

PLEASE CHOOSE FROM ONE OF THE FOLLOWING OPTIONS

- I want to stay active in the TSSA, be a member of a Retired Members' Branch or, if one does not exist in my Divisional Council, remain in my current branch. I also want to be a member of the Retired Members' Group. (Complete section A)
- I want to retire from the TSSA and claim retirement benefit (Complete section B)

TSSA Retired Members' Group

All retired members in the union are automatically members of the Retired Members' Group. The Group holds four full meetings a year and distributes a newsletter to all members several times a year.

We organise occasional visits to locations of interest - such as to the Bank of England and the York Mansion House - and we are considering a number of other places to visit in the coming months.

We form the TSSA's link to the National Pensioners' Convention, where we play a part in keeping this organisation effective as a national voice for protecting pensioners' interests.

We hope you will join us after you retire and look forward to seeing you at our meetings.

You can join us before or after you retire - log into your MyTSSA account and select Retired Members' Group on the 'My Groups' tab.
