

How to dress as Peanut Jones

Little Tail

Peanut's Pencil, Little Tail, plays an important role in the story. Why not make an oversized version to carry with you using the cardboard tube from a kitchen roll? Don't forget the sharp lead, the blue eraser and the special writing on the side.

Freckles

Ask a grown-up for a brown (or reddy-brown) eyebrow pencil. They're perfect for dotting freckles. Spread around face liberally!

Bandolier

The important thing about the bandolier is that it can hold pens, pencils, paints and brushes. We recommend using the widest belt you can find and using brightly-coloured tape to hold these vital tools in place. Alternatively, if you, or somebody you know, is handy with a needle and a thread, you could fashion one from scratch.

Stripey tights/leggings

Peanut is a brilliant artist and that means she likes to wear quirky clothes when she's out of school uniform. If you're not able to find stripey tights, any brightly-coloured tights or leggings will work.

Top Knot

Anyone with shoulder-length (or longer) hair can do this! Tip your head upside down and use a black hair band to keep your high pony in place. Remember: no brushing! Peanut's hair is wild, curly and a bit messy. If you want to spray it orange, make sure you use temporary coloured hairspray that you can easily wash out.

Dark blue t-shirt

A short-sleeved blue or dark-coloured t-shirt is Peanut's tee of choice.

Denim dungarees

Cut down an old pair of dungarees for the Peanut look or, if you don't have any dungarees, cut down an old pair of jeans, roll them up a little at the bottom and wear with pride! If you would like to create the 'bib' of the dungarees, try cutting out a square from your old jeans. Either attach this to the t-shirt with a couple of your fave badges or, ask a grown-up to sew the bib to the t-shirt.

Black boots

Wear your chunkiest shoes for this. All the better for running through portals!

How to dress as Rockwell Riley

Green hoodie

Rockwell's out-of-school look is casual but colourful. A green zip-up hoodie will bring his look to life.

Cutie π t-shirt

This t-shirt is officially for Maths geeks! If you have a white tee you're allowed to customise, we suggest fabric pens or pencils. Or a chunky felt tip will do the job.

Jeans

Rockwell's no scruff, a smart pair of jeans with turn-ups are what's needed here.

Red rucksack

A bag with plenty of compartments in which to keep gadgets, pens, calculators and snacks. This probably means you can use your school bag!

High-tops and red socks

Any high-top lace-ups are great, but what really makes this look work is the contrasting coloured socks.

School uniform

Of course, you may choose to go in Rockwell's other outfit, his school uniform. Grey trousers and jumper, black blazer (with the St Hubert's badge, obv's), a black and red tie and a white shirt.

How to dress as Little-Bit Jones

Blue Alice band

Little-Bit is always seen with her hair band in place. Use a wide blue Alice band or a strip of blue fabric which could be cut from an old piece of clothing.

Pale blue pinstriped top

Little-Bit is a BIG fan of stripes. And rainbows! Dig out any stripey top (long-sleeved if possible) to wear under the pinafore dress.

Blue pinafore dress with rainbow patch

If you have a pinafore dress, attach your own rainbow picture with a glue stick (make sure it's washable glue first). No pinafore? No problem, a dark skirt will do, with a lovely rainbow picture on your t-shirt (again, make sure you use washable glue if you stick this on!)

Yellow tights with white trainers

Last but not least, bright yellow tights or leggings with some white trainers. No yellow tights? Just wear the brightest you can find. Little-Bit won't mind a jot.

School uniform

If you're wearing Little-Bit's school uniform, she loves a pinafore dress with a smart white collar peeking out of the top. Team this with a cardigan and colourful badges (green and pink ideally), white tights and black school shoes. Tip: don't forget the all-important blue Alice band!
