Working as a supply chain operator

Supply chain operators are primarily responsible for managing the movement of goods for a variety of customers across all sectors, and as such their customer base will range from large global organisations to sole traders and private customers in local areas, depending on their organisation.

They communicate and come into contact with a wide range of people and customers, and have a passion to meet customers' expectations by providing a quality service that encourages repeat business and are able to work under pressure to tight deadlines, with excellent time management skills.

The programme's structure

Apprentices will be placed in a role over a minimum of 12 months during which they will be supported while on-programme by their tutor. Their tutor will review the progress of the apprentice against the standard to ensure they are prepared for the end-point assessment.

Your apprentice's journey
