MACMILLAN
Children's Books

Dear Publishers,

Welcome to our Spring Guide showcasing the best of our publishing this season. Our titles are now represented across three guides, to help save you time, so please do look out for our non-fiction and Priddy Books Rights catalogues too.

Starting with our very youngest readers, I want to highlight our new character-led board book series, Matty and Mo by Rosalind Beardshaw. The series is already attracting a great deal of attention; we go to Bologna with six languages confirmed, with more to come. Camilla Reid's Macmillan Children's Books publishing has had a brilliant first year and there are now more than a quarter of a million copies of her books in print around the world. Her new series is illustrated by award-winning Kate Hindley and introduces best friends Nell and Beany, who are at the very centre of their adventures, as all toddlers are. This novelty series is perfect for sharing, and inspiring creative play.

Emily Gravett won the Macmillan Prize for Illustration twenty-one years ago and we are proud to have been her publishing home ever since. Her new picture book, Bear's Nap, is a classic in the making; full of her signature humour and engaging animals characters. The 'Mac Prize' continues to discover brilliant new talent and we have new picture books from Becky Colvin with The Great Green Island and Kate Rolfe with Owl and Moon.

Highlights on our picture book list include Diane Ewen's The Great Unicorn Escape, this is the second picture book in the Unicorn Forest series and is a great adventure about finding friends in unexpected places, and Julia Donaldson's Gozzle is the latest joyful picture book illustrated by Sara Ogilvie. Publishing this spring, it is backed by an extensive marketing campaign, and we are very pleased to have eight publishers already signed up to be part of this growing partnership brand.

Illustration remains central to our young fiction lists. The Mubbles by Liz Pichon is ready to find its fans this year as children around the world discover this brilliant and hilarious new world of crazy characters. In middle-grade, look out for Rob Biddulph's exciting new adventure series The Moonhaven Chronicles, C.M Lewis's epic fantasy Quill and the Last Generation, hilarious debut Dante N Ferno is NOT a Loser by Brian Gordon and laugh-out-loud colour graphic novel Tiny Hercules by Jon Lock and Nich Angell.

Our YA imprint, First Ink, goes from strength to strength. After Frankfurt, we had a flurry of pre-empt, offers and auctions in nine territories for The Sleepless by Jen Williams. Of Flame and Fury by Mikayla Bridge has been snapped up in four languages so far, and the compelling gothic fantasy romance Like the Moon We Rise by Annabelle Cormack is the latest addition to this hugely exciting list.

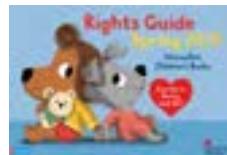

We have been publishing books to entertain children since Macmillan released Alice's Adventures in Wonderland by Lewis Carroll 160 years ago in 1865. It is our ambition to keep doing so for many years to come and we look forward to working with you to inspire the young readers of the future.

With all best wishes,

Alison Ruane

- Rich world-building and high stakes make this the perfect witchy gothic fantasy to fall for in 2026

SERVE THE EMPRESS . . . OR BURN.

Auriel has spent her life indentured to the mysterious, cruel hag Dakr, working as a poison maiden to do her bidding – but she can almost taste freedom; freedom to find her mother, freedom to hone her magick on her own terms . . . as long as she keeps it secret. Because magick can only be legally practised by witches who serve the Empress, or they will be punished.

But instead of freedom, Auriel is handed over to the haughty Ambrose, a young prince intent on revenge. Ambrose has a proposition for Auriel: if she pretends to be the prophesied all-powerful Khelani, and helps him liberate their people from the Empress's control, he'll grant her freedom.

Thrown into a dangerous scheme, Auriel discovers her friend, Faolan Flynn, has been in on this plan all along and spying on her. Friends soon turn to rivals – but she can't deny the growing attraction she feels for him as she's trained to defeat the Empress . . . nor can she shake the dark presence that has always been with her. The more Auriel learns about Flynn, Ambrose and the Empress, the less sure she is who to trust.

But the prophecy is just a story . . . right?

LOVE, GODS & SINNERS

CAMILLE CHONG

- Camille Chong is a Singapore-raised writer whose debut YA novel is a love letter to teenagers who grew up on white, overly-cishet superhero franchises
- The setting is richly drawn, the characters flawed and fun; the book will appeal to adults who like the chemistry of Gideon the Ninth and teens who came to Iron Widow for its high-concept adventure
- The book plays with familiar YA tropes like enemies-to-lovers but has a wonderfully original setting and tone, and is the fresh contemporary fantasy that readers will be craving in a busy romantasy market

Two teens, descended from gods, must choose between love and villainy in Love, Gods and Sinners, a sizzling enemies-to-lovers urban fantasy.

In a glittering, fantastical Singapore, where humans are born with ancient magic into a polarized near-future society, two young research scientists find themselves falling in love. The only problem? They've just been tasked to kill each other . . .

Raven spends her nights (and her magic) carrying out dangerous missions for the maligned Foxes, descendants of the Chinese Nine-Tailed Foxes. But by day, she's simply Harper Leong. A magic-less research intern, Harper is the playful academic rival of the famous Tia Njauw. Tia uses her unique brand of moon magic to protect the city – and she hates Raven.

When Raven is tasked to murder Tia in order to secure the future of the Foxes, the two teens start to understand that the concepts of right and wrong can be just as complicated – and dangerous – as falling in love.

Wish You Were Her

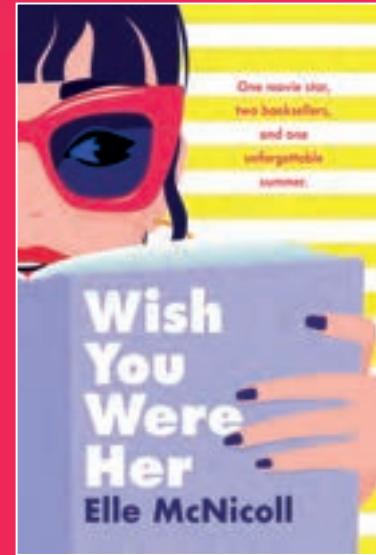

Elle McNicoll

Book Lovers meets You've Got Mail in this enemies-to-lovers romance from bestselling, award-winning author Elle McNicoll.

18-year-old Allegra Brooks has skyrocketed to fame after starring in a hit television show, and all she wants is a normal teenage summer.

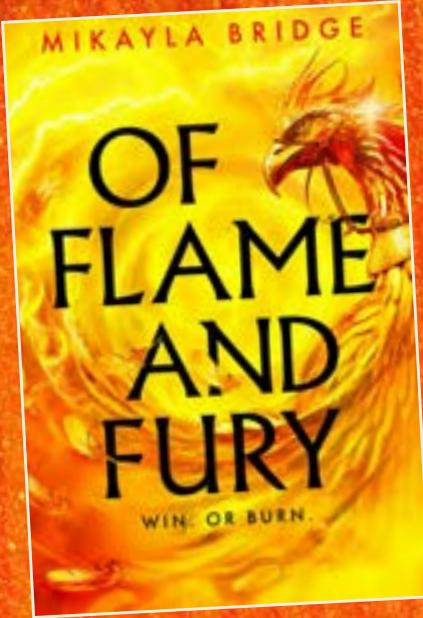

Her destination for escape? Lake Pristine and its annual Book Festival, organized by the dedicated but unfriendly senior bookseller, Jonah Thorne.

But in small towns like Lake Pristine, misunderstandings abound, and before long the two are drawn into high-profile hostility that's a far cry from the drama-free holiday Allegra was craving. Thank goodness for her saving grace: the increasingly personal emails she's been sharing with a charming bookseller who is definitely not Jonah Thorne . . .

A romcom about finding the one person who makes you feel yourself when the whole world is watching.

- Perfect for fans of Emily Henry, Sophie Kinsella and Beth Reekles, this is a charming, funny and swoon-worthy romance centring two autistic lead characters
- Elle's star is on the rise: with a major TV series based on her debut novel A Kind of Spark continuing its success with a second season, and a growing international profile

- Global Macmillan pre-empt, jointly acquired with Macmillan US and Macmillan ANZ
- A lead YA of summer 2025, with a major global comms campaign
- Clear, commercial concept that combines the deadly magical creatures of Fourth Wing with the edge-of-your-seat racing of Formula One

OF FLAME AND FURY

Fourth Wing* meets The Fast and the Furious in Of Flame and Fury – the explosive YA fantasy by debut author Mikayla Bridge. With deadly phoenixes, edge-of-your-seat action and a smouldering enemies-to-lovers romance, you won't want to miss the hottest YA fantasy of the summer.

Hotter than F1. Deadlier than Dragons.

Win. Or Burn.

On an island built from ash and shrouded in fire, phoenix racing is the most profitable – and deadly – work you can find. No one knows that better than Kelyn Varra and her crew, the Crimson Howlers.

When the Howler's rider is killed during a race, Kel is forced to join forces with arrogant, hot-headed Warren Coupers – the last person she would ever want on her team. But with her rising debts and threats to her beloved phoenix, Savita, the pressure to win has never been higher and Kel is left with no other choice.

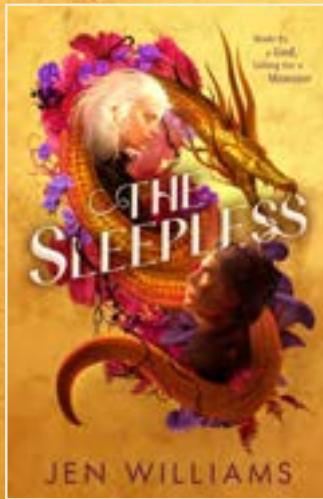

But then mysterious tech mogul Canen Cristo takes an unsettling interest in the team. Amidst perilous races, the threat of an unstoppable disease and her growing attraction to Coup, Kel soon uncovers a sinister plot that will threaten everything she cares for, as she fights to keep Savita and her magic out of the hands of those who would use it for their own gain . . .

When Artair is sent on a mission to steal a monster cub that is under Elver's protection, he – and Lucian, the other spirit inhabiting his body – are set on a collision course with the monster girl that will challenge everything they think they know about their world.
