A NOTE FROM THE PUBLISHER

Welcome to the 2021 Macmillan Children's Books illustrated stocklist. It is a pleasure to be looking forward to next year, and showcasing our list and highlights from January to June. All the MCB trademarks you have come to expect from us are here, from highly illustrated titles for all ages to heritage and modern classics as well as brilliant new titles from award-winning authors and illustrators. We even have a new preschool list for you, specially created to fill the gap between board books and picture books.

The natural world is a strong theme across our new 2021 publishing. Julia Donaldson partners with illustrator Yuval Zommer for her new story The Woolly Bear Caterpillar, which also comes with a non-fiction mini-book for all little naturalists to find out more. We welcome Michael Morpurgo to our illustrated Two Hoots list with his story A Song of Gladness, encouraging us to find our own personal connection to nature. With beautiful images by Emily Gravett, this is a book to treasure. Rod Campbell has written and illustrated a new wonderful lift-the-flap book about endangered animals. This is a partner title to his bestselling Dear Zoo, and Look After Us introduces perfectly the idea of conservation to young children.

Our World Book Day book for 2021 is What the Ladybird Heard Play by Julia Donaldson and Lydia Monks, a version of the favourite story that everyone can get involved with to celebrate the day. It comes at the same time as the paperback of What the Ladybird Heard at the Seaside and a new look for the other Ladybird Heard adventures too. With Campbell Books' Busy Storytime, even the youngest readers can join in the World Book Day celebrations.

The Tales from Acorn Wood series by Julia Donaldson and Axel Scheffler celebrated twenty years this year. Next April we will publish the first of four new Tales from Acorn Wood books. Cat's Cookbook is a warm and charming addition to the classic series.

Funny books that make us laugh are so important to keep us going and My Dad is a Grizzly Bear by Swapna Haddow, illustrated by Dapo Adeola, and Wee? It Wasn't Me! by Clare Helen Welsh, illustrated by Nicola O'Byrne, are both hilarious picture books to look out for. The Treehouse series has now sold 700k through the TCM, bringing laughter to children all across the UK, and we launched a new illustrated series for the same age group this summer: InvestiGators by John Patrick Green. This is already becoming a firm favourite with younger readers and there is more crazy alligator fun to come next year.

You will already know that How to be a Hero by Cat Weldon is a major middle grade fiction launch for us next year. This fast-paced fantasy adventure is set in the world of the Norse Gods, where Lotta, a trainee Valkyrie, is desperate to prove herself and Whetstone, a Viking thief, wants nothing more than to be a hero. By working together, they might be able to defeat the gods to save the day – and each other.

Where would YA publishing be without love in adversity and romance? Sue Divin's Guard Your Heart is an emotional novel set in Derry, bringing together politics and religion in a deft and heart-warming way, while in Love is for Losers by Wibke Brueggemann, Phoebe is a fantastically witty heroine who absolutely definitely hates love – until it turns out she might not!

2020 has been a year like no other and I want to take this opportunity to thank you for supporting our books, authors and illustrators, and working closely with us through this tumultuous time. During lockdown, we have endeavoured to keep in contact with as many of you as possible, working with booksellers, librarians, teachers, literacy charities and other partners to offer help and practical ideas wherever we can. We have taken advantage of everything that technology can offer us through online readings, downloadable activities, virtual events and more. It has been and remains a real team effort. Thank you.

All of us at Macmillan Children's Books wish you good health, and we hope that the times we are in will let us still focus on how we can best help children to enjoy stories and develop a lifelong love of reading for pleasure.

With best wishes,

Belinda Ioni Rasmussen

ORGANISING AUTHOR AND ILLUSTRATOR VISITS

Having an author or illustrator come to visit your school or library is a great way to bring books to life for children. You can write to any of the authors and illustrators published by Macmillan Children's Books c/o Children's Publicity Department.

Author visits require thorough planning, so you will need to contact us about your chosen author well in advance. Your letter should include a few dates for the author to select from, the ages of children attending and the type of event you would like to have.

A book makes a great souvenir of the day and authors are happy to sign them after the event has finished. Contact your usual supplier to arrange books for sale at the event and circulate a note to parents in advance so that children can bring in some money.

Please note that events will be subject to review whilst social distancing is a requirement but please get in touch to discuss options.
