

Terms and conditions for the programme:
"Economic and financial data analysis with Python"

This version: 2025-08-26

- The programme fee covers tuition, refreshments, lunch and course materials provided during the programme.
- In the event of cancellation of participation in the programme by a participant, no refund will be given.
- Participation in the programme will only be confirmed upon receipt of full payment of the programme fee. Participants who do not pay the full amount on time may lose their place on the programme.
- Participants are expected to behave in a professional, respectful and cooperative manner. Disruptive or inappropriate behaviour may result in exclusion from the programme without refund. Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam prohibits harassment, discrimination, and any other behaviour that violates its policy of inclusion and respect.
- Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam is not liable for any personal injury, property damage or financial loss incurred during participation in the programme. Participants are advised to arrange personal insurance to cover such risks. Although the programme aims to provide valuable education and insight, the university does not guarantee specific or business success.
- Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam reserves the right to cancel or postpone the programme due to insufficient registrations, force majeure, or other unforeseen circumstances. In such cases, participants may use the amounts paid as credit for the following programme but waive the right to claim further costs.
- Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam reserves the right to change these Terms and conditions if necessary. Participants will be informed of any changes in advance.
- These Terms and conditions are governed by Dutch law. Disputes arising from these Terms and conditions will be settled by mediation or arbitration. By paying, participants acknowledge these Terms and conditions, including the payment and refund conditions. Any questions, please contact the programme office.
