What is ADIT

The international tax professional today has a varied background, and is expected to be increasingly mobile with an understanding of more than one taxation system. ADIT, designed by a board of world-leading experts, has been created to provide the robust foundation in international tax that today's professional needs. ADIT is an independent means of demonstrating international tax expertise at a global standard, and currently supports a growing community of students, graduates and International Tax Affiliates in over 120 countries and territories.

ADIT is a driving force in the field of international taxation and provided a real opportunity to reinforce my practical skills in international tax law, developed initially through an LL.M.
