

UNITED KINGDOM MODULE

ADIT

United Kingdom module

This module gives you the required knowledge, skills and understanding of international tax issues relating to businesses and individuals engaged in international tax practice within the UK that you need to succeed in your career. Your learning will cover in detail the UK tax system in an international context, with particular emphasis on double tax relief, thin capitalisation, reorganisations, transfer pricing and anti-avoidance provisions.

Who is it for?

The United Kingdom module is aimed at professionals around the world, particularly those advising or working with multinational corporations and private clients. ADIT is suitable for senior level professionals, managers or those working towards a senior level.

How will it benefit you?

- Gain a robust understanding of theory coupled with practical application
 - Build your confidence, skills and competencies to apply principles in your daily work
 - Keep up with fast-changing developments in tax law, and stay ahead in your field
 - Increase your employability with a qualification recognised around the world

ADIT is a network of Affiliates, students and graduates. They represent around 2,000 firms in more than 120 countries.

Transparent and accessible past papers

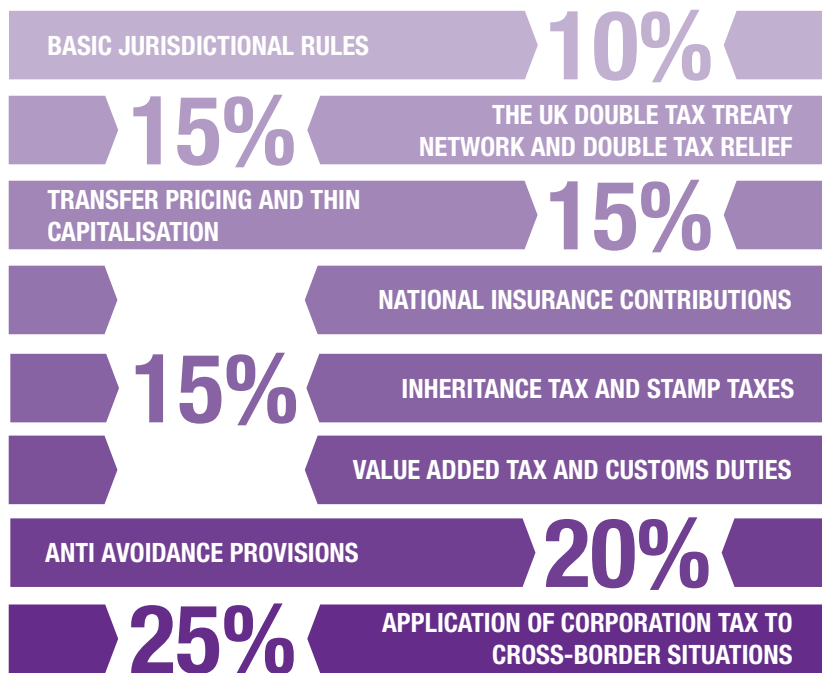

Access real questions and answers from previous exams, available to help with your studies. Practice with previous exams will help familiarise you with the format of the exam, to identify areas for further study and focus on exam technique.

Length of study

Approximately 200 hours of learning time is recommended to complete the United Kingdom module, though this may vary dependent on a number of factors including your background, knowledge and experience, and your study method.

What you'll cover

The curriculum is regularly updated to cover current tax laws and emerging trends, providing a thorough grounding in current international tax issues in a UK context:

Ways to study

There are study options to suit everyone, from classroom learning to self-study. Whatever your preference, you'll find a method and providers that work for you:

ADIT specific – courses specifically designed to prepare students for the ADIT exams

Distance learning – materials and support from a course provider but no classroom attendance required

In-house training – the course provider comes to your organisation

Classroom courses – provided by other professional bodies, commercial tuition providers and academic institutions, for their purposes, which help in preparing for the ADIT exams

Self study – our detailed curriculum and recommended reading lists are supplied online and can be used as a guide to prepare for the exams

How is it assessed?

- One exam consisting of three parts
- Questions designed to test your application of concepts to real world scenarios
- Employer-driven with a professional focus, relevant to your career
- Two sessions per year, taking place in June and December
