

Schedule for students missing Work and Organisational Psychology & Social Psychology

Your study delay will be ½ year. The entry requirement for the second year course Practical Training: Psychological Research (PT:PR) is: having passed all first year courses. Therefore, PT:PR needs to be postponed to 2024-2025.

Priority needs to be given to first year courses and second year courses that constitute an entry requirement for starting your specialisation courses in the second semester. This will give you a fulltime study load.

2023-2024

30 EC in total				30 EC in total

Please note: courses in red are entry requirements for all specialisations.

* Practical Training: Psychological communication (PT:PC) is an entry requirement for the clinical specialisations (CP, CNP, CDP). You can take this course in one of these 3 periods. Please contact the study advisers after course placement if you are placed in a PT:PC group that takes place during your crash course.

A crash course is an intensive course 12 EC course with weekly tutorials.

A crash course is only possible if the course material has been studied before and with a lot of effort.

A crash course is not mandatory. An alternative schedule is also possible, that however will lead to an increased study delay. For more information, please contact the study advisers.
