1 Foreword

DKMS Group gGmbH, having its seat at Kressbach 1, 72072 Tübingen, Germany (hereinafter "DKMS"), is an international non-profit organization dedicated to give as many blood cancer patients worldwide as possible a second chance at life. DKMS was founded in Germany in 1991 and since then has ensured that more and more patients receive a life-saving stem cell donation.

Various entities based in Germany, the USA, Poland, the UK, Chile, India and South Africa are affiliated with DKMS ("DKMS Family"). More than 12 million potential donors are registered in the DKMS family and to date the organization has facilitated more than 115,000 stem cell donations.

DKMS is committed in the fields of medicine, science and research to improve outcomes for patients with blood cancer and hemoglobinopathies worldwide. In its laboratory, DKMS Life Science Lab gGmbH, having its seat in Dresden, the organization sets global standards for the typing of potential stem cell donors in order to find the perfect match for a transplantation.

With the international support Program "Access to Transplantation" DKMS strives to improve the situation of patients living in low- and middle-income countries, who would otherwise not be able to receive the potentially life-saving treatment. The Program aims to make a sustainable contribution to the expansion of reliable and good healthcare for patients with blood cancer and life-threatening blood disorders. In this context, DKMS also pursues the goal of providing support to non-profit-hospitals and -organizations in countries with scarce resources, as well as promoting the training of medical and non-medical personnel in the field of hematology and hematopoietic stem cell transplantation by awarding Scholarships to enable appropriate treatment.

These funding guidelines stipulate the requirements, regulations and the awarding of scholarships for medical and non-medical personnel in the field of hematology and hematopoietic stem cell transplantation by DKMS.

3 General Conditions

- 3.1 The Scholarship aims to provide financial support for the development of specialist expertise to contribute to the best possible treatment of patients with a potentially transplant-relevant disease.
- 3.2 The Scholarship funds medical and non-medical personnel, for example doctors, nurses or coordinators, who contribute directly or indirectly to the successful treatment of patients with blood cancer and other diseases of the hematopoietic system.
- 3.3 DKMS does not provide funding for any other area of expertise.
- 3.4 The Scholarship is divided in three funding lines.
 - i. Funding Line A: The Trainee participates in a Course (online or on-site at a Course Provider) and participates in an Observership at a Training Center.
 - ii. Funding Line B: The Trainee participates in a Course (online or on-site at a Course Provider).
 - iii. Funding Line C: The Trainee participates in an Observership at a Training Center.
- 3.5 In all three Funding Lines, it is possible that participation takes place at the Trainee's place of residence or that temporary absence from the permanent place of residence is required.
- 3.6 For the purpose stated in 3.1, the selected Trainees will receive a monthly Scholarship. The amount of the monthly Scholarship depends on the Funding Line granted in accordance with 3.4 and the location of implementation in accordance with 3.5.
- 3.7 Even if all the conditions for funding stated in these guidelines are met by an applicant, there is no legal entitlement to funding. The decision on funding lies solely with the DKMS selection committee, which may justify its decision to decline funding, however, it is not under obligation to do so.
- 3.8 The funding is valid for the duration of the Program. For Trainees whose Program participation requires a temporary relocation, an additional two weeks of funding may be granted prior to the start of the Program to cover relocation and local administrative requirements, as well as an additional week of funding for the return to the permanent place of residence.
- 3.9 If participation in the Program requires a temporary absence from the permanent place of residence, it is possible in justified cases that the travel costs for arrival and departure as well as the stay of family members will be supported as permanently accompanying relatives. Minor children and a maximum of one other person with an educational function who are on site for the duration of the Program are counted as permanent accompanying relatives.
- 3.10 DKMS must be immediately informed when changes in circumstances relevant to the granting of the Scholarship are foreseen, including but not limited to:
 - i. Changes of contact information of the Scholar, the Course Provider of the Training Center,
 - ii. Significant changes to the Course curriculum and/or changes with regards to the Observership as noted in the original approved application,

- iii. Changes occurring after the award of the Scholarship with regards to expected donations, grants of other financial support.

3.11 DKMS reserves the right to cancel the funding in whole or in part and to reclaim any funds paid if the Scholar terminates the Program prematurely (see 9).

4 Eligibility requirements

4.1 Funding through the Scholarship is only possible if the eligibility requirements are met. These are set out hereafter.

4.2 Applicants, in particular residents of low- and middle-income countries as defined by the World Bank and from Chile are eligible to apply.

4.3 As a rule, Scholars from previous years will not be awarded a further Scholarship. In justified exceptional cases the committee may decide otherwise.

- iii. Completion of the Program should enhance the applicant's expertise in the field of hematology and hematopoietic stem cell transplantation so that they contribute to the best possible treatment of patients with a potentially transplant-relevant disease.
- iv. The applicant must provide proof of application or registration for a suitable Course and/or application for an Observership.

If the Program is completed part-time, a salary may be received for the time that is not used for the Course and/or Observership. Other remuneration paid as part of an Observership may not have the character of a wage or salary.
- ix. If the applicant is employed during the period of the Scholarship, the applicant must prove that the Course covered by the Scholarship Program is not based on this employment relationship, i.e. that it does not constitute compulsory further training, the costs of which must be borne by the Scholar's employer.
- x. The Scholar is responsible for all tax obligations that may arise for him/her from receiving the Scholarship.
