Adare

Miltown Malbay

Shannon Estuary drive, you will find delightful towns, villages and ancient sites. From the weather beaten coastline and historic towns of County Clare to the rich farmland and ancient sites of County Limerick.

County Clare - in 2003, archaeological survey work in the Adare region revealed over 300 prehistoric sites. Adare is home to one of Ireland's oldest towns and is on the route of the Limerick to Shannon boat journey. The Loop Head Peninsula, the western boundary of County Clare, has the wild beauty of the Atlantic and is the Irish wild west in all its windswept glory. Its best-known landmark is the Burren, a 250 sq. km lunar-like landscape of grey limestone punctured by round holes so deep they resemble caves. It's a hard land, but it cradles a thriving culture of Irish traditional music. You'll hear some of the very best traditional sessions in villages and towns in spring by wildflowers including 24 species of orchid.
