| | margin with high price reductions | |
| | Wage costs. This might be % to sales, to budget or productivity (sales divided by man hours) - increased costs can decrease profit | |
| | Average transaction value - customers are successfully being upsold Units per transaction - Customers are being sold more units. Add on items are more attractive or are being more effectively sold by the store team. | |
| | Stock loss, including wastage - again rises in these dept (especially | |
| | food wastage in Christmas sales ramp) can dramatically affect profit even with increased sales. | |
| | 1 mark for each correct answer with a reason to a maximum of 4 | |
| You find | that sales are up 10% compared to the previous year. | · |
| Outline | 2 further factors that should be taken into account before concluding whether | the |
| Christma | as sales period was successful, giving reasons why each factor should be conside | ered. |
| 4b | The key factor is margin. The learner needs to clearly differentiate between | 4 |
| (Q9) | sales being plus 10% and what has happened to margin, i.e. if these sales | FN1 FN6 |
| | were obtained by heavy discounting, then margin will have been reduced and the margin/profit goal may not have been achieved. | |
| | Examples of additional factors: | |
| | Other costs need to be within budget, or at least pro-rata to the sales increase, otherwise profit will be adversely affected, such as: Staffing costs Utility costs | |
| | Economic factors, i.e. rate of inflation | |
| | 1 mark for identifying margin. 1 additional mark for a suitable outline as to why this is important | |

| | plenish stock to a specific level. Assuming there are no space issues or key pror | notions, |
| state ho | w this stock level can be calculated. | 1 |
| 6b (Q13) | Answers may vary depending on the individual organisation's procedures. Examples include: | 3 FN1 ST1 |
| | Weeks Cover (or such term used by learner's company) - | |
| | The average sales per week (taken over the last month, 3 months etc) divided by the stock in store. | |
| | For example: 100 sales over the last 4 weeks = 25 per week. Stock in store is 150. 150 divided by 25 = 6 | |
| | The store has 6 weeks stock cover. In simple terms the store will run out of stock in 6 weeks given that current sales trends continue. | |
| | The business will operate to selected weeks cover per item. For example, best sellers might be 8 weeks and slow sellers 4 weeks. The actual figures are not required in the answer. It is the understanding and explanation of the formulae used for stock needed to meet sales, net of space limitations, promotions etc that is required. | |
| | Some company's use space targets and 'fill to capacity', this is also an acceptable answer as they do not use the above formula, but fill in bulk, space dependant. | |
| | Up to 3 marks for a full and suitably explained answer of how the stock level could be calculated. 1-2 marks for a partial or incomplete answer. | |

| (Q14) | appropriate: | JLLI | |
| | Pace setter leadership - This could be used to set the pace for the new team, but there might be resistance by some of the new team. Transformational Leadership - The leader will share the vision with the whole group, so they become one team. The leader will be self- aware, authentic, empathetic and humble to engage all members (old and new) Charismatic Leadership - The leader will inspire, motivate and energise the whole team. The traits are similar to Transformational style which is in the short term. | Describe | e a motivational theory that supports the previous manager's style of manager | nent. | |
| 7b (Q15) | The answer is that both managers are adopting their management style via different viewpoints of their team. These viewpoints are listed below: | 3 LE2 | |
| | McGregor's Participation Theory: Douglas McGregor formulated two distinct views of human being based on participation of workers. The first basically negative, labelled Theory X, and the other basically positive, labelled Theory Y. | | |
| | Theory X is based on the following assumptions: | | |
| | People are by nature indolent. That is, they like to work as little as possible. | | |
| | 2. People lack ambition, dislike responsibility, and prefer to be directed by others. | | |
| | People are inherently self-centered and indifferent to organisational needs and goals. | | |
| | 4. People are generally gullible and not very sharp and bright. | | |
| | On the contrary, Theory Y assumes that: | | |

| | People are not by nature passive or resistant to organisational goals. They want to assume responsibility. They want their organisation to succeed. People are capable of directing their own behaviour. They have need for achievement. | |
