Working in the passenger transport driver sector

Every day millions of people travel on trams, buses and coaches to get to work, to see friends and family or to go on holiday. Passenger transport service professionals make a difference by ensuring they are able to travel safely, on time and in comfort from the beginning to the end of their chosen journey. An apprenticeship in passenger transport services is a great opportunity to acquire the skills, knowledge and behaviours that play a vital role in providing a high-quality, accessible and safe passenger transport service to all customers.

The programme structure

During this programme the apprentice will learn a wide range of skills and knowledge, as well as experiencing incidents and scenarios, which will not occur during the EPA. As part of their professional review, the apprentice will need to be able to draw on what they have learnt and experienced over the 12-month programme. Therefore, it will be a requirement that their learning is structured in such a way that apprentices are able to accurately record in a journey log their achievements and experiences, and which allows a third party to be able to review it objectively. It is the responsibility of the training provider to ensure this structure is in place.

Your apprentice's journey

Ready for training

- Initial assessment
- English and maths training
- On-programme training to meet the requirements of the standard
- Gateway readiness self-assessment

Set for assessment

End-point assessment methods are:

- observation - primarily focused on the apprentice's skills and behaviours, but also covering knowledge that is implicit through their demonstration
- professional review - primarily focused on the apprentice's knowledge and understanding, but also covering and confirming skills and behaviours that are implicit with this
