

ENGLAND HOCKEY

England Hockey Officiating Tutor – Role Description

Overview

Ready to inspire and support the next generation of officials? We'd love to hear from you!

Join us as an England Hockey Officiating Tutor and help shape the future of officiating. Become an integral figure in England Hockey's Officiating Strategy, by delivering engaging and purposeful learning experiences, supporting the development of new officials, and play a pivotal role in growing a confident and skilled officiating community.

What is an EHO Tutor?

An EHO Tutor is:

- A facilitator of officiating learning and development
- A key messenger in promoting a shared language across the officiating community
- An engaging educator who can deliver interactive workshops and courses
- A strong communicator who builds rapport with learners
- Someone who models integrity, ambition, focus, and inspiration
- A person with an understanding of how learning happens

What You'll Do

- Facilitate inclusive, practical, and enjoyable learning environments
- Use engaging activities and group discussions to encourage learning and reflection
- Create meaningful learning opportunities that inspire officials to improve
- Maintain accurate records and support course administration
- Provide feedback and guidance tailored to officials' needs and environments
- Attend tutor training and course development events to help keep the course up to date and engaging for learners
- Promote peer learning and long-term communities of practice

What We're Looking For

- Be an active umpire/umpire support/official with a good understanding of officiating at various levels
- Experience in facilitating learning environment - both in person and online
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills
- Organised, dependable with attention to detail
- Creative, adaptable and open to innovation
- Self-motivated and energetic
- A committed ambassador for hockey and officiating development

When You'll Be Needed

Initially, we're looking for individuals to deliver England Hockey's Level 1 Umpire Course, this is evening and weekend online sessions, with a willingness to travel locally when required for face-to-face sessions.

Your Impact

As an EHO Tutor, you will:

- Help officials connect internal learning with practical experience
- Contribute to building a vibrant and supportive officiating community
- Inspire confidence and growth through knowledge-sharing
- Highlight and define good practice using common language
- Ensure officials are equipped to continue learning and improve their officiating skills

To apply for the role of EHO Tutor you will need to fill out this form.

Also submit a maximum 3-minute-long video of you explaining the 'Aerial Ball Rule' to new officials. Please submit this video titled 'EHO Tutor Application - Your Name' via email or file transfer to natasha.wilson@englandhockey.co.uk

Key Dates for Applicants:

Applications Close: Monday, 8th September at 9:00 AM

Shortlisting: Will take place following the application deadline. If required, interviews will be held during the weeks commencing 15th and 22nd September.

Role Confirmation: The successful applicants will be notified during the week commencing 29th September.