Highfield Level 3 International Award in Health and Safety for Accommodation Supervisors

The provision of accommodation is a common employee benefit included in the contracts of expat workforce. Ensuring appropriate health and safety standards within the staff accommodation is extremely important for the employers, to create a safe living space for their employees, both from a legal and moral perspective.

Who is this qualification for?

This qualification is aimed at labour camps or staff accommodation supervisors and managers with a direct responsibility for the health and safety management of learners wishing to become accommodation managers/supervisors.

Learners gaining this qualification will know that supervisors and managers have legal and moral obligations to ensure health and safety within the accommodation/camps and that this includes obligations to employees, contractors, visitors and suppliers.

What are the entry requirements?

It is strongly recommended that learners already possess a level 3 health and safety qualification.

What topics are covered?

The qualification provides learners with an understanding of the main aspects of health and safety and the importance of maintaining these aspects to ensure a safe and healthy living space. Topics include the key infrastructure requirements, safe utilities requirements, maintenance of fire safety, electrical safety, food safety, pest and waste management systems, cleaning and disinfection procedures, procedures of control of spread of infection and responsibilities of the supervisors to conduct routine inspection of the premises, to record and report any health and safety hazards.
